

Woodberry Down Estate Regeneration

A competition to design four start-up sites from the Woodberry Down masterplan in north London, UK

A PRP project in which I participated in the competition team, alongside urban designers and architects.

The design process looked at the whole of the masterplan and the relationship of the four sites with the existing and proposed urban fabric. Core outputs were landscape constraints and opportunities study, a landscape strategy and conceptual landscape proposals for parks, streetscape and interfaces with adjacent New River and reservoirs.
